Only fifteen prisoners in the county jail.

The institution for the deaf and dumb will close its term next week.

Two more vagrants were run in yesterday and were sentenced to Omaha for thirty days.

Prepare to donate something to the Y. M. C. A. at the gift social at the rooms Friday evening.

Tailors scarce in Council Bluffs; at least idle ones seem scarce, every one having employment.

Preparations are being made for a Mother Hubbard party at the institution for the deaf and dumb.

The police committee has been instructed to procure a patrol wagon to haul drunks and disorderlies in.

Taylor and Le Rue, who were arrested for fighting, were up for a hearing yesterday, but were not discharged.

Some complaint is made about dirt wagons going along Main street over the new pavement, the dirt rattling out.

Kate Herbert is now called on to explain away a triplet of charges, being drunk, assault, and disturbing the peace.

A. W. Bockoff was before Justice Vaughn yesterday, on a charge of assaulting Mrs. F. Knight. The case was continued until to-day.

The bridge building in the county does not seem to be progressing as rapidly as it ought, and some of the supervisors are grumbling to the contractors.

The hotels are so crowded that cots have had to be put up to accommodate the guests, and many of the visitors are entertained at private houses.

Mayor Vaughan says that city warrants are as good as U. S. bonds. Judge Aylesworth says, "Yes, they're better; they're easier to get and harder to get rid of."

Alderman Bowles has had a complaint lodged against him for carelessness in handling a horse. He claims it was a mere accident, and the case will probably be dropped.

The council has now passed the ordinance requiring those hauling dirt to use tight wagons and endgates to keep the dirt from rattling off into the street along which they pass.

The county board is in session at the court house. Thus far the business has been confined to the equalization of taxes, reviewing the assessor's books, and settling up with the county treasurer.

Patrick Hennefer was arrested yesterday on a charge of beating B. H. Allison out of a board bill. He was a little full and was lodged in jail to get sober enough for trial, before Justice Abbott.

The programme for the weekly entertainment, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms last evening consisted of a musical talk by Dr. Barstow, reading by W. S. Homer, a mock auction conducted by Henry D. Long and a question box.

Mary E. Butler has commenced an action of divorce against her husband, J. M. Butler. She claims that they were married in November 1867, and that he has not only become too much given to drink, but that he has been very cruel to her, beating her on several occasions, and on last Saturday night driving her out of the house in her night-dresses.

Mrs. Eugene Motias received a telegram yesterday containing the sad news of the death of her sister, Mrs. Dr. Sinton, at Colorado Springs, where the doctor and his wife have been residing since leaving here. The news of her death comes very suddenly, and will call forth much sorrow and sympathy. Mrs. Sinton having many acquaintances and friends here.

The last grand jury inquired somewhat into the affairs of the paper mill here conducted by C. S. Reckless, and hearing that he had sold a quantity of paper, on which there was a chattel mortgage, they fear an indictment against him, charging him with larceny. Reckless is not in this part of the country now, and is said to be in Brooklyn with his family. A bench warrant has been ordered issued, and the bail has been fixed at $500.

Yesterday Steve Carter who was arrested in Omaha and brought back here, for breaking open his room mate's trunk, was allowed to depart in peace. He had about $8 in his pocket when arrested, and the most of this was turned over to the man whose trunk was opened, to pay for the damage. It is little satisfaction for the police to make arrests now-a-days, for when they get a man "dead to rights," the fellow is discharged especially if he has a dollar or two, a little money, very little, seeming to be more of a consideration than the dealing out of justice.

The board of trade could not secure a quorum Monday evening. It is a shame that the members do not take more interest in these meetings. If the business men would devote a little time to mutual conference, decide on plans of action, and pull together, even greater things than ever before might be accomplished. This year is one of great improvements for

POINTS FROM THE PEN.

Sheriff Guitler Starts with More Prisoners for Fort Madison.

Sheriff Guitler returned yesterday from Fort Madison, whither he had just taken Charles W. Ison and G. W. Moore, who were sentenced at this term of the district court. Wilson was found guilty of forging Mr. McDermott's name to a due bill, and was given two years in the penitentiary. Moore, who stole an overcoat at the Creston house, was taken there to serve one year and a half.

While the sheriff was at the penitentiary he saw a number of the prisoners sent from this county in years back. He saw young Lloyd, who was recently sentenced for forging J. R. Davidson's name to a check, and trying to get it cashed at the Citizens' bank. Lloyd is at work in the shoe shop, and has been suffering from dropsy, but is now better. He also saw Theo. Lyons, who was sent for burglarizing C. B. & Q. cars. Lyons was found at work making wheelbarrows.

Harry McGee, whose shooting scrape at the Ogden is still fresh in the memory of the public, was found at work in the shoemaker's shop. The keepers said that Harry was very popular among his fellows, and that he gave no trouble to anybody.

Levi Weirick, who was sentenced for life, and who has already been there eleven years, was very hopeful about receiving a pardon soon.

Last evening the sheriff started over the road again with two other convicts, James E. Bailey, who forged the name of Billy Smith of the Ogden, to get three years for forgery, and F. Norman, for burglary, who goes for eighteen months.

THE GRAND LODGE.

Its First Day's Session.

The forty-first communication of the grand lodge of Masons A. F. & A. M. convened in the new opera house yesterday. There were in attendance about 400. After the opening of the lodge, P. G. M. Guilbert, and Bros. Allen, Deering, Atkins were appointed to introduce the following officers of the grand lodge of Nebraska and Kansas: G. W. Singer of Omaha, and John Brown, of Kansas, and Grand Treasurer Beck, of Kansas, and G. M. Hayes, of Nebraska.

Grand Master Hayes, of Nebraska, responded to the welcome. G. W. Singer, of Omaha, and Past Grand Master Brown, of Kansas, also made short speeches.

Grand Master George B. Van Saun delivered his address and report. It showed the number of lodges instituted during the year to have been 13; lodges continued under dispensation, 9; new lodges under dispensation, 13; number of Masons in Iowa, 20,000.

The report of the grand treasurer and secretary were also presented. Greetings were sent to the grand lodges of Washington, New York, Nova Scotia, Oregon, Wisconsin and Dakota, which are now in session.

It Beats Anything in Chicago.

The grand opening of display of Casady, Orcutt & French in their new and spacious storerooms in the new Masonic temple, will take place to-day from 2 o'clock to 10 o'clock p. m. No such grand display has ever before been witnessed in this city, and Council Bluffs can now boast of surpassing even Chicago in having a carpet establishment which, being as it is on the first floor with good light, spacious room and great variety of goods, cannot be excelled by any establishment even in that great city.

An Unprovoked Assault.

Yesterday, shortly after noon, Jack Sandel made a most unprovoked and cowardly assault upon Henry Eismann, the well known merchant, and Mr. Boardley, the druggist. These two gentlemen were just going down town after dinner, and Sandel lay in wait for them on Market street. Without any warning he sprang upon them, and merely charging Mr. Eismann with having said something about him, struck him twice in the face, and then struck Mr. Boardley. As all know, Mr. Eismann is a man who is no gossip and no fighter, and having known Sandel ever since the latter's boyhood, and having befriended him in times of need, the attack could not be justified in any way. Sanders, who is a big, muscular young fellow, when arrested made no sort of excuse for his attack on the two gentlemen, but Judge Aylesworth let him off easy, fixing the fine at only $10 and costs.

A short time ago Sandel was at the Ogden house, and acted in a wild way, chasing one stranger about the corridor, acting like a wild man. It was thought that he had been drinking, while others thought it was nothing but an unbridled temper. If he is to carry himself in this sort of a way, it is time that the strong grip of the law was made so tight on him as to let him realize that he must hold his tongue and his hands.

Casady, Orcutt & French's great clearing sale of carpets, curtains, and upholstery, will commence June 5th, and continue 30 days. Look out for big bargains. Strangers visiting the city are invited to call and inspect our stock.

They following were shipments of stock from the union stockyards yesterday:

PERSONAL.

Misses Fannie and Jessie Walker have gone east on a summer visit to friends.

Mrs. George H. Champ has returned from her visit to her old Indiana home.

David Jones one of the prominent of York township, was in the city yesterday.

Rev. Cyrus Hamilton has gone to Cedar Rapids for a few days, to attend the state association of Congregational churches.

John Lindt has gone to Mishawauke, Ind. where his wife has been visiting relatives and friends, and they will return together.

J. C. Regan, the young contractor, has been joined here by his family, who will remain here for a short time and then return to their home in Des Moines.

Captain Twombly, of Keosauqua, spoken of as the coming nominee for state treasurer on the republican ticket, is among those attending the Masonic gathering.

Thomas Testevin has returned from Milwaukee. He is in love with that city, but not so much with the climate, he being there during the sharp frost, and when it became necessary to fire his straw hat and duster and climb into an overcoat.

J. B. Romley, of Omaha, who is the manager of the board of underwriters of that city, was here yesterday accompanied by his wife, and under the escort of A. M. Weir, the Council Bluffs manager, took a drive about the city and noted the many improvements.

Frank D. Johnson, of Butler, Green county, was in the city yesterday. His name has become quite familiar from the fact of the efficiency with which he has for two years performed the duties of clerk of the state senate. He is a classmate of Mr. Cadwell, of the law firm of Sims & Cadwell, of this city, and is a brother-in-law of the Brock boys, no that his visit to the Bluffs is one of pleasure as well as business. Mr. Jackson has an eye on the position of secretary of state, and it is said that there is a prospect of his getting there. He is a young man, but his years have been marked by activity and brains, and he has many admirers and supporters.
